COWBOYS SHOOT UP THE TOWN

Tuesday night some nine would-be cow boys, advertising the Bruce Stampede arrived in Irma about seven p.m. and proceeding to make their presence known by shooting blank cartridges and trying to see how badly the Irma citizens could be scared. Nothing serious happened till they entered the hotel dining room where the shooting continued, scaring two of the waitresses so that they could not do their work. The performance ended by the police at Wainwright being notified and the hold had men were interposed upon their arrival at Bruce by the A. P. Police from one of the adjoining towns when six of the nine were arrested for disturbing the peace. The police are still looking for the other three all of whom will be brought to Irma for trial. Wednesday the girls were both suffering from the shock and the general impression is that this class of show should be dealt with with a stern hand.

POLICE COURT

Last Friday, Magistrate Millar, of Sedgewick held court in Irma when Preventive Officer Smith, of the Alberta Liquor Control Board had one of the Irma farmers prosecuted for having moonshine and mash in his possession. During the trial the defendant denied having two bottles which were found in an upstairs room which was used by a hired man. The mash it was admitted had been made by the defendant's wife and another bottle that had been found in a heater stove had been put there by unknown parties. During the progress of the trial the man who occupied the room in which the two bottles were found swore that he had found the two bottles along the roadside but did not know that they contained moonshine. While admitting that the bottles belonged to him and not to the owner of the house, who he thought did not know of their presence in the house, he was unable to explain why they had been carefully concealed in a sack of rags and hid in the bedroom. After the conclusion of the evidence the magistrate convicted the first defendant, and as this was the second offence he was committed to Fort Saskatchewan for four months hard labour without the option of a fine. A complaint was then laid against the star witness in that between the 15th day of June "when he swore he found the bottles," and July 1st, the day the police made the search, he had in his possession two bottles of illicit liquor that had not been purchased through a liquor vendor. The accused pleaded guilty and was fined $300.00 and costs or three months at Fort Saskatchewan, taking the latter part of the sentence. At the same time another farmer was prosecuted for operating his automobile without a license. As he had been warned before he was fined $20.00 and costs or thirty days.

It pays to read advertising messages in this paper, week by week, they contain store news, and information of much value—offerings of bargain buys which mean money saved to the careful shopper! Incidentally, it is mighty poor economy to be without the local paper—its advertising news alone will, in the course of a year, more than repay in dollars and cents the price of the annual subscription.

A company known as the Tri-City are negotiating with Saskatoon to supply the city with gas from the field north of Kinross and east of Viking. As this area is mapped out for the supply of Edmonton, exceptions are being taken to the proposal by citizens of Edmonton and the Canadian Utilities.

The district stretching between Alliance and Forestburg was visited by a severe hail storm last week which destroyed the crops and broke windows in many of the business places and residences in its wake.

Prospects for a good average crop in this district are very bright just now, and it is hoped that hail storms will give this district a wide berth. The Liberal Club of Viking and district have accepted the challenge of the local U.F.A. members published in last week's News to a debate, and it will take place in the Viking Ek Community Hall on Thursday evening, July 24th, at 8 p.m.

The question to be debated is "Resolved that the interest of Canada would be best served by the prairie provinces now electing and sending a strong representation of farmers to the next federal parliament." It has been decided to have three speakers on each side. Messrs B. Armstrong, S. Lefrard, and B. C. Gilpin will speak on the affirmative, while Mrs. M. Hyslop, C. G. Purvis and H. G. Thunell will speak on the negative.

CANADA TO BE CONSIDERED FOR INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS MEET

Winnipeg.—The International Railway Congress has been asked to consider Canada as the place of holding its congress in 1936. A. A. Tisdale, general manager, Canadian National Railways, was advised today by E. P. Mallory, director of the Bureau of Statistics, Canadian National Railways, Montreal, who returned to Montreal recently from the 1930 congress in Spain.

The International body, which meets for discussion of problems concerning all features of railway operation and management, meets once every three years and has previously met in London and Rome.

The proceedings of the congress were conducted in four languages; Spanish, English, French and German. Mr. Mallory stated. There were some 800 delegates in attendance from every country in the world. The work being done by Canadian Railways was the subject of many questions from operating officials in other countries.

The Wastebasket

IT'S QUEER

A careful observer has handed in the following poem for the benefit of our readers:

It beats the deuce how folks will weep,
As you lie in your coffin so fast asleep,
And sing of your goodness in countless ways.
While the parson preaches and talks and prays.

Tis queer how the public will eulogize,
And laud you up to the vaulted skies,
When the undertaker has called your bluff
And squirted you full of embalming stuff.

But when you walked on earth, I swear,
You were nothing but a cheap skate there;
You'd have fainted or dropped dead
At any praise that the public said.

It's only when you're a lifeless stiff
That the heartless public knows the diff.
There's one thing certain, (you've heard it said)
That when you're gone you're a long time dead.

"I hear your son has got his sheepskin," remarked a citizen to a friend whose son had recently graduated from college. "Yes," the old man replied, "he first accumulated the horse hide, then the pigskin, and the coon skin, and finally the sheepskin. And he took most of my hide, too, in the transaction."

"This steak is like a cold day in June—very rare," said a boarder in a local boarding house Monday. "And your bill is like March weather—very unsettled," replied the landlady. "Something to worry about—post mortems by defeated candidates."

AUSTRALIAN TRAFFIC TO SAYS CANADIAN NATIONAL OFFICIAL

Winnipeg.—The people of Australia are becoming increasingly interested in developments in Canada, and an increasing number of them are taking advantage of the opportunity to visit the Dominion when crossing from the Antipodes to Britain and vice versa, stated G. F. Johnston, General Agent of the Canadian National Railways at Sydney, Australia, who visited Montreal recently on a business visit. Australians are keenly interested in the Canadian Rockies, Mr. Johnston continued, and many of them get their first glimpse of snow when they are travelling on Canadian National trains through these mountains. The great wheat fields of the prairie provinces and the industrial developments of eastern Canada, and of the United States are also a matter of general interest to the Australian traveller, who consequently is keen to visit these areas during his travels.

How's Your Bank Account?

It is a common thing for parents to open a bank account for a very young child, taking care of the account until the child is old enough to manage it. Then the bank book is turned over, and Dick or Ruth shoulders a new responsibility.

In this way the child is, early in life, taught the valuable habit of thrift. Practical lessons in the keeping of accounts and records are learned. And as these small savings are conserved and mount upwards, a substantial sum of money is created which will make adequate provision for the later education of the child, or constitute a reserve of capital to start a boy in business or enable a girl to assist in establishing her own home.

Famous leaders in commerce have said that regular saving, even on a small scale, is the surest foundation for financial success. To save only five dollars a week is to build up a financial reserve, which will grow. To contract five dollars debt weekly is to accumulate a growing burden.

Nature starts each of us in life with an account at the Bank of Health, which is handled in trust by older folk until we reach the age of responsibility for the care of the body. It makes all the difference in the world whether we handle our health account wisely or foolishly.

How is your account at the Bank of Health? Have you a good balance? Is it shrinking instead of growing? You ought to know.

Nature abhors and punishes waste while she approves and rewards thrift. Both in what we call the big realm of Nature and in the individual human life.

Experts tell us that reckless and unchecked cutting and fishing threaten the existence of some of the world's largest forests and fisheries. The supplies we thought unlimited may fail. We are learning that continuance of supply depends on conservation, which is simply a bigger word for thrift.

The same is true of health. Nature exacts heavy penalties for waste. Preventive work promotes and assists the practice of health thrift.

Just as a savings account is built up by small deposits, so, too, must our health reserve be built up. Enough food and exercise, enough rest and relaxation, must be deposited in the Bank of Health every twenty-four hours.

These deposits must be in good currency, too. Nature, like our bankers, accepts no bad bills or counterfeit coins.

Why not look into this matter of your account at the Bank of Health? A wise way to begin is to go to your doctor for a complete medical examination. Don't wait until you are sick to visit your doctor; go to him when you are well and have him check you up. Take stock.

Another good plan is to repeat the process of a thorough medical examination at least once a year, say, on your birthday anniversary. In this way any disease which may, quite unknown to you, be making insidious headway, will be discovered in its early stages, checked and cured, but which if left to develop undisturbed until you begin to "feel sick" may by then have reached the stage where it is beyond cure.

World's First Talkie Sign

Novelty Introduced At Chicago By Envelope Company

What is probably the first talking sign in the world made its debut before a crowd of over 3,000 Rotarians with a speech boosting Chicago, telling about its schools, churches, parks, playgrounds, libraries, universities, boulevards, policemen and other civic assets.

George D. Gaw, of the Gaw-O'-Hara Envelope Company, is responsible for the sign, which is a 50-by-20 foot affair on the envelope company's plant in North Sacramento boulevard.

The speech was made before the microphone and amplified through the loud speaker hidden in the net lettering but in the future records tending the city and boosting for its "Century of Progress" will furnish voice to the sign throughout the day, according to Mr. Gaw.

Motorist Sued For Train Wreck

Had To Pay $10,000 For Causing Derailment In Illinois

Automobile drivers must pay for the train wrecks they cause under certain circumstances. Such was the gist of a decision handed down by the district court for the southern district of Illinois and reported by the legal department of the American Motorists' Association. The suit arose as the result of a motorist driving over the tracks of a railroad, causing the derailment of an engine and five freight cars. The railroad sued the motorist for $20,000. A verdict of $10,000 was given, which was sustained on appeal to the higher court.

Four Doses Relieved Bad Attack of Cholera

Mr. W. J. Cooper, Maughan, Alta., writes: "A year ago last spring I arrived in Canada with my family, and one of my boys, aged six, was suffering very much with cholera. When we arrived I had a few hours to wait, and told one of the attendants at the station about it, and he asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I had never heard of it in England, so he told me I could get it in Winnipeg. I am pleased to say I had only to give the child four doses and he got well and was quite cheerful by the next morning."

Airplane Flight To Far North

Government Planes To Open Up Air Route In Sub-Arctic Areas

To inspect aeroplane supply caches in the Canadian sub-Arctic and with a view to opening up aerial communication routes in the Barren Lands belt, in the Northwest Territories, a special detachment of the two government seaplanes will leave Rockcliffe Aerodrome in the near future for an air tour which may extend over 25,000 miles, most of it over a little travelled country.

Flight Lieut. F. J. Mawdsley, of the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence, will be in charge and will pilot one of the two planes. Flight Serg. H. J. Winny will pilot the other. In addition to the two pilots there will be two mechanics, Corporal B. C. Dearway, who will be the camera operator, and C. S. McDonald, inland surveyor of the topographical surveys.

The flight will be the first official government step toward the opening up of air lanes in the North West Territories. The majority of the trip will be in the vicinity of the Mackenzie River Basin, the Great Slave Lake area and northward to Coronation Gulf. The flight will also travel over that part of Canada lying to the west of Hudson Bay north of Churchill. With only a few exceptions all the caches to be inspected will be just to the south of the Arctic circle.

The detachment will return to Ottawa before the freeze-up.

SUMMER HEAT

HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Regulating Surgical Treatment Of Show Animals

The Edmonton Exhibition prize list contains a regulation in the cattle section, that any animal exhibited, which has been so treated as to alter its natural conformation, will be disqualified. Competent veterinarians will examine the cattle to ensure the enforcement of this regulation. This is in line with the present view of agriculture to eliminate the cutting of ties and the surgical or other treatment of show animals for show ring purposes.

Saskatchewan Loses Valuable Man

Dr. W. Carrothers Accepts Appointment At University of British Columbia

Dr. W. Carrothers, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, who has accepted an appointment as professor of economics at the University of British Columbia, will leave Saskatoon in time for the opening of the fall term some time in August.

Born in the County of Fermanagh, Ireland, Dr. Carrothers attended college at Belfast, coming to Canada in 1911. He attended Wesley College, affiliated with the University of Manitoba, graduating from there in 1916 with the degree of bachelor of arts. Upon leaving university, Dr. Carrothers enlisted with the 44th Canadian Infantry, later transferring to the Air Force. He was awarded the D.F.C. and the Croix de Guerre.

Following the war, he attended Edinburgh University and studied under Professor J. Shield Nicholson, obtaining the degree of Ph.D. He was appointed to the staff of the University of Saskatchewan as professor of economics.

At the University of British Columbia, the departments of economics, sociology and political science are combined. Dr. Carrothers will be in the economics section, holding the position of second in the department. Dr. Carrothers' work during the past few years has received widespread notice. His book, "Immigration from the British Isles," published in 1929, was very favorably received.

He has been closely identified with the work of returned men, for two years holding the position of president of the Canadian Legion here, and he also served a term as president of the provincial command. Since last December he has served as an alderman on the city council in Saskatoon, having been elected in the civic elections at that time.

The Imperial Conference.

Material Resources and Wealth Possessed By British Empire

The British government intends to enter the Imperial Conference free and unfettered by prejudice or bias, declared Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominions, in addressing the Empire Week. At the opening of "Civic and Empire Week" at Colchester, Essex.

Mr. Thomas proceeded to discuss the unemployment problem and Great Britain's handicaps as the result of the financial burdens of the war. He said the Imperial Conference would give an unique opportunity for a free and unfettered discussion of all the aspects of this question. As he had examined it, everything the United States possessed in material resources and wealth was possessed within the ambit of the British Empire.

It is because of that knowledge that I, on behalf of the government, announce we intend to enter the Imperial Conference to consider every problem on its merits, unfettered by prejudice or bias, and prepared with a single minded desire to try to find a solution of the problem," he said.

Has Heavy Task

New U.S. Minister To Canada Has Busy Days Ahead

The United States senate without a record vote has confirmed the nomination of Colonel Hanford L. MacNider, of Iowa, as minister to Canada.

His tasks as American minister to Canada will be trying. There is bitter resentment throughout the provinces toward the new tariff bill. The stupidities of prohibition enforcement on the border have almost exhausted the patience of Canadians. The administration of the immigration laws, too, stands in need of civilizing.

Colonel MacNider has many busy days ahead of him—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

French Evacuation Of The Rhine

Reports State That Departure Of Troops Was Somewhat Hurred

All was not so quiet and peaceful as official reports stated when the last French troops left Mainz and Wiesbaden recently, according to the Paris National organ, "La Liberté," which describes the departure under the headline of "Violent Incidents."

La Liberté says that, owing to hostile manifestations, booing and whistling by the crowd at the Mainz station, Gen. Guillaumat, commander-in-chief of the Rhine army, had drawn the blinds of the compartment occupied by himself and his staff. The newspaper also quotes a German newspaper story to the effect that the French troops covered the distance from their barracks to the railroad station in two minutes, whereas ten minutes was usually taken for the same march.

Gen. Guillaumat himself, who arrived in Paris with the president of the inter-allied high commission, M. Tirard, declared the departure of the French troops was effected normally without any noticeable incident. M. Tirard said: "We have given evidence of our confidence in the good faith of Germany. May it be understood and appreciated by the government and population of the Reich."

Time Not Worth Much

Do you know how many feathers are on a hen's back? The winner of a recent contest to determine just that has found there are on an average of 8,120. The winner dissected a hen's skin and painstakingly numbered each feather, arriving at the above total.

After thirty-five time seems to pass so rapidly that by the time you have forgiven somebody for his Christmas present it's time to do it all over again.

The Pending Completion Of Hudson Bay Railway Will Stimulate Mining Interest

With the Hudson Bay Railway in its final season of construction, and with improved passenger and freight service, exploration of mineral properties to which the Bay line is tributary, has started on a really important scale for the first time. Several companies and syndicates have launched programmes to develop groups of claims in the neighborhood of the new steel trail.

A dull mineral season is in view for the region north of Churchill, but reports circulating in mining circles point to interesting activity along the Hudson Bay Railway.

Within the past few weeks, half a dozen parties have travelled north on the line to explore promising areas quietly, before there are signs of a rush to one of the many new discoveries northeast of The Pas.

However, it is unlikely that prospectors will be allowed to travel north of Mile 112 this year, unless special arrangements are made with the federal government. More than one well-known mining man from northern Ontario has reached The Pas this summer with the hope of travelling to Churchill. But they have been disappointed. In one instance, a man raised an argument here over the fact that an eastern station agent had checked his equipment right through to Churchill, and he had hurried to The Pas, only to find that he could not get to the port. Railway officials explained present regulations to the prospector, and he has to be content to postpone his trip until another season. It is reported in The Pas that efforts will also be made this year to trace down Indian reports that deposits of native silver lie in that great triangle south-east of the Hudson's Bay Railway, and bounded by God's River on the east, and Oxford Lake on the south.

Last year a few samples of beautiful filigree silver ore found their way into The Pas from York Factory. It was stated then that York Factory men and some Indian companions had found the native metal somewhere in the mystic triangle. Excellent detective work on the part of mining engineers failed to show up the origin of the native silver, and the find—if there has been one—remains undivulged.

For years, Indian lore has hinted of spectacular silver to be found in that 62,500 square miles of territory. This season may see a climax to the silent drama of centuries, when it is known that a second Cobalt-type deposit up in that little explored region south of York Factory on Hudson Bay.

Power Resources Of Manitoba

Claimed That 72 Per Cent. Of Water Power Resources Of Prairies Are Located In Manitoba

The considerable power resources of the Province of Manitoba are estimated at 5,000,000 h.p., of which 308,000 h.p. already are in operation. It is claimed that 72 per cent. of all the water power resources in the Prairie Provinces are situated in Manitoba. The Winnipeg River power sites are estimated to be sufficient to provide for a population of 2,500,000 in Winnipeg and to provide employment for 200,000 industrial workers. This power will turn out products worth in the neighborhood of a billion dollars every year.

CENTER FOR ALPINE CLIMBING

Into a country where there are many important peaks still unconquered and even unnamed, will come Alpinists from all over the world for the 1930 annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, July 28th to August 16th, in Jasper National Park. Alpine members of the medical profession of England, will be among those at this year's camp. In this vast mountain kingdom, climbers will try their skill in the Maligne Lake region, where such peaks as Mt. Sampson, Mt. Charlton, Mt. Unwin, Mt. Warren, Mt. Mary Vaux, Mt. Maligne, and Mt. Brazeau—ranging from ten to eleven thousand feet in height, offer most interesting climbing problems.

It is perhaps the splendid prodigality, the massing of effects that distinguishes this region from all others. In the Rockies the folly of comparisons, where beauty is concerned, is always obvious. There are a score of lakes, each different, which, once seen, hold their place in the heart forever. Yet this stands out among them all. Where many of the others are chamber music, Maligne is the great orchestra. The composition forms one picture but into it has gone enough beauty to make a dozen regions famous.

The Maligne Valley is one of the most interesting in Jasper National Park, not only on account of its remarkable canyon, but because of its two beautiful lakes—Medicine and Maligne.

The famous canyon of the Maligne River is an interesting example of what nature can do in the way of natural carving with uncounted aeons of working and with rushing water as her tool. Its great depth, its narrowness—in places it is scarcely more than a slit between dark walls of rock—and the great size of the pot holes, worn by the water in the course of ages, all make it of extreme interest to the geologist and nature lover and Alpinist.

One of the very interesting features of this canyon is the re-appearance at many places throughout its length of subterranean streams. It is believed that these streams form part of the submerged waters of Medicine Lake. Their combined waters so increase the flow of the river that by the canyon its volume is about four times greater than above the gorge.

Big Building Year

Several Large Building Contracts Are Announced In Saskatoon

It looks like a big building year in Saskatoon. A new $200,000 apartment house and a new $300,000 technical school are now under construction, while the Dominion Government is spending about $600,000 on the addition to its grain elevator. Also, contracts running to about $1,000,000 are involved in extensions (from Saskatoon to Rosetown and Outlook in one direction, and to Melfort and Tisdale in another), of the Saskatchewan Power Commission.

New Provincial Park For British Columbia

Is One Of World's Finest Stands Of Timber

Cameron Lake Forest, on Vancouver Island, one of the world's finest stands of timber, will be made a provincial park under the plans announced by Premier Tomin. As a first step in this project, probably the most important ever undertaken in Canada to preserve a virgin forest, the government has ordered an immediate cruise of the entire Cameron Lake area. This will be undertaken by the provincial forestry service and a report will be filed with the government before fall.

The Cameron Lake Forest, known to travellers from every part of the world, lies between the lake and the hills which are crowned by snow-capped Mount Arrowsmith. It consists of giant fir, cedar and balsam, growing close together and reaching to such heights that the island highway, winding between them, is in twilight on a sunny day.

Women's Institutes

1,150 Women's Institutes In The Rural Districts Of Ontario

There are now 1,150 Women's Institutes in the rural districts of the Province of Ontario with a membership of over 40,000. These Institutes exist for promoting social contacts and whatever is beneficial to the community as a whole, especially to women and children, through cooperative effort. The movement, started at Stoney Creek, Ontario, in 1897, has now become world wide. Women's Institutes, wherever they exist, are non-sectarian and non-party political. Recently an international conference of representatives of Women's Institutes was held at Vienna, Austria, at which delegates from most of the important countries were present.

Canadian Tobacco Industry

Considerable Quantity Of Canadian Product To Be Shipped To England

"If the necessity arises, the government will not hesitate to appoint a special commissioner in England to look after the interests of the Canadian tobacco growers," stated Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce here, in commenting on the tobacco domestic situation.

"The Canadian Government is in close touch with the tobacco growing industry," said Hon. Mr. Malcolm, and through its trade agents, the Great Britain has already put the British manufacturer in close touch with Canadian growers. It is expected a considerable quantity of Canadian tobacco will be shipped to Great Britain this year," he said.

Destructive Wheat Disease

Loss Caused By Foot - Rot Greater Than Any Other

Of all the fungous diseases affecting wheat "Take-Ail," or foot-rot, is the most destructive, observed the Dominion Botanist of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa. The actual loss caused by it is far greater than by any other single disease, but included, or perhaps a combination of all known fungous diseases affecting wheat. A peculiar thing about this disease is that it appears only once in a series of years. Fortunately for Canada, the exercise of proper care and the wholehearted support of Western farmers have kept the disease from becoming seriously established in Canada.

When Fate Was Cruel

Income Tax Papers Only Mail Received From Wrecked Steamer

Of 130 mail bags on a steamer wrecked on Shetland only four have been washed ashore, and of these four only one retained its contents in a condition fit for distribution. This was a bag of income tax papers—an instance of that "dry" humor for which Scots are famous. The worst of it is that when the papers are returned the authorities will not be able to distinguish the salty marks of the ocean from the tears shed by those by whom the documents were received.

Study Indian Traits

Four French scouts, belonging to an organization similar to the Boy Scouts of Canada, except that they are college students, arrived recently at Banff, Alberta, where in the Canadian Rockies they will make a study of Indians, for the ethnographical museum of Paris. They are Paul Causse and Gabriel Eyraud, painters; Raymond Gid, naturalist, and Leon Chaix, photographer.

Produces Better Eggs

Poultry Experts Find Large Hen Exceeds In Production

The larger the hen the better the eggs she lays and the more there are of them. Poultry experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture find that body weight has a very direct relation to egg production. A three pound hen will average 137.9 eggs a year, weighing 23 ounces to the dozen. With each ¼ pound increase in weight there is an increase in the number of eggs laid and their weight per dozen—a four and a half pound hen will lay an average of 206.6 eggs a year weighing 24.5 ounces to the dozen. This item should be of particular interest to farmers keeping poultry flocks.

Ornamental Shrubs

Development Of Hardy Types Of Shrubs and Perennials

Not the least important of the work being done by the Experimental Farms and Stations of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is the development of types of ornamental trees and shrubs and hardy perennials, annuals, and garden flowers suitable for use in all parts of Canada. Many of these have been found suited to even the most difficult climatic conditions, and the report of the Experimental Farm or Station nearest you will provide an indication of varieties adapted to use in your locality.

Noted Comedy-Success to Open Canadian Chautauqua

SCENE FROM "BROKEN DISHES"

"Broken Dishes," the popular Broadway comedy by Martin Flavin, which will be presented at the coming Canadian Chautauqua here, seems to strike a responsive chord in the heart of everyone. Pa Bumpstead, the central figure in the play, is one of the most lovable characters to reach the stage in a decade. For twenty years Pa has been as meek as a lamb in his own home, but events transpire which cause him to pluck up his courage and roar like a lion, to the intense surprise of the Bumpstead family.

"Broken Dishes" is a very human comedy, filled with laughter, romance and pathos. It will be presented here by the well-known Martin Erwin Players of Canada.

"Broken Dishes," Great
Comedy, at Canadian Chautauqua

SCENE FROM "BROKEN DISHES"

"He who cannot laugh at the play had better see his physician," says the New York Sun of "Broken Dishes," the popular comedy which will be presented at the coming Canadian Chautauqua here by the Martin Erwin Players of Canada. "Broken Dishes" is replete with hilarious laughter, tense drama, and vivid depiction of the very real sort of people we meet in our daily life. The play unfolds an appealing love story between Elaine, the baby of the family, and the village grocery boy, whom Ma treats with icy scorn. But Pa and Elaine conspire together with surprising and dramatic results. "Broken Dishes" is a gem of a play, genuinely moving and uproariously funny.

An automatic parachute will bring the rocket down again when the motors are exhausted. The rocket-model is expected to reach a height of 100 kilometers and to bring back valuable secrets.

Will Explore Arctic Regions

Youthful Scientists To Spend Year In the North

Fifteen youthful explorers, whose average age is only 23 years, sailed from London recently aboard the exploration ship "Quest" for a year's exploration of the Arctic regions. Their work will be done on the ice-covered stretches of Greenland and Iceland. The purpose of the voyage, which is under the auspices of the Royal Geographical Society, is to obtain information with a view to establishing an air route from England to North America across the Arctic regions, with only 300 miles over the sea. H. C. Watkins, 23-year-old explorer, is leader of the expedition. His fourteen companions are all about the same age, and each is a specialist.

Watkins made a scientific exploration of Labrador last year, and of Spitzbergen the year before. The expedition will establish a base on the south-eastern coast of Greenland and a station on top of the ice cap, 8,000 feet above sea level. From there they will make notes on meteorological conditions in connection with flying.

The hold of the "Quest" was packed with a year's food supply, including six tons of food for the dogs, which will be picked up at the Faroe Islands. Two airplanes, two speed boats, sledges and several delicate meteorological instruments furnished by the government were included in the equipment.

A pampered passenger is a young turkey who is doomed to be served for the explorers' Christmas dinner.

Reports here said that if the data gathered proves the feasibility of the air route, a test flight will be made, and Canada will be asked to make a similar survey on the western side of the American continent.

Scotland's War Memorial

Not Even the Humblest Worker Has Been Forgotten

No one seems to be forgotten in Scotland's wonderful war memorial which is built on the Rock of Edinburgh.

There it stands glowing with the carved and colored badges of every Scottish regiment that served in the Great War. While in bronze friezes or stained-glass windows, sailors, artificers, and other workers are depicted. Even birds and beasts have their memorials.

Carved on the walls are the words: "Remember also the humblest worker that served and died." Then come medallions framing the heads of a horse, a mule, a camel, a message dog, and other animals, with a cage of carrier pigeons and a group of canaries and mice inscribed. "The tunnelers' friends," because these little creatures are used underground, for their swift collapse when the air becomes poisonous is a warning to men.

Not even the humblest worker has been forgotten by the generous-hearted men who planned the building.

In the shrine is a block of marble set on the rock which rises through the floor, and on this block is a tablet given by the King and Queen enclosing books containing the name of every Scotsman who fell in the war. It is a place of pilgrimage to Scotsmen all over the world, this holy place where the noblest heroes and the humblest creatures are all remembered together.

He had a total of 17 points.

A Remarkable Record

Seven Hundred London Firms In Business For Century Or More

It will be a surprise to Londoners to learn that their great city boasts no fewer than seven hundred firms that have been in business for one hundred years or more. When we consider how easily businesses change hands, how they fall into decay through a change of fashion or the coming of new inventions, how families die out and how the younger generation feels ever the urge to seek fresh woods and pastures new, it is a remarkable and praiseworthy record of industrious enterprise.

Although we may be inconstant in many things, we stand loyally by our prejudices.

Takes First Glider Lesson

Prince Of Wales Coached By Famous German Pilot

The Prince of Wales has taken his first glider lesson.

The lesson was given near Lewes, Sussex, by Robert Krenfeld, a German, who is reputed to be the world's champion glider pilot. It consisted chiefly of a demonstration as how to operate the glider, and it was understood the prince did not actually pilot the ship.

The prince long has been an enthusiastic aviator and is reputed to be an excellent pilot, although for reasons of state he is never permitted to make solo flights. He always is accompanied on his flights by one of the best Royal Air Force pilots, but the prince handles the controls except when taking off or landing, on strange or difficult landing fields.

Montreal Has Grown Rapidly

Few cities in Canada have shown such substantial growth as Montreal. Within a decade the total assessable property has doubled in value and is now $1,200,000,000. In 1914 the population was 625,000; today there are a million people in the city proper. In 1914 there were 153 miles of streets and today there are 600 miles. The municipal revenue, which in 1914 was $10,500,000, is now $37,750,000. Montreal has reached the rank of the fifth largest city on the continent.

Four Men Keep Tryst Started 31 Years Ago

Keeping a tryst started 31 years ago, four men met in Trafalgar Square, London, England, on a recent night. In 1899 six young decorative artists, H. E. Hansfield, G. MacDonald, G. Clifton, E. Bile, Brown and Edwards, were notified that the studio in which they worked was to be razed. They then made a vow to meet once a year. This year only Mansfield, MacDonald, Clifton and Bile were able to attend, but the two absent ones sent telegraphic greetings to their friends.

Doctor Says Average Man Wears Too Much Clothing

Dr. Eugene L. Flisk, of the Life Extension Institute of America, lately gave strong support to the theory that the average man who walks the streets of a twentieth century city is "grossly overclothed."

At this time of the year, such a theory goes far to prove itself. Nonetheless Dr. Flisk's collection of data is worth looking into. He had an examination made at the institute of the clothing worn by two dozen men and women. It was found that in mild weather the average woman wore about two pounds and a half of clothes, including shoes, and that the shoes of the average man alone weighed as much as that.

Completely clad, the average man wore eight and a half pounds of clothing. On any hot summer day he walked the hot asphalt streets with more than three times the weight of the average woman's raiment on his back. Dr. Flisk called for reform, and looked hopefully to England, where last summer some pioneer spirits began a movement to rationalize men's clothing.

Alberta's New Emblem

Wild Rose Is Made Symbol By Legislation

Today the wild rose is official floral emblem of Alberta. Legislation naming the new symbol went into effect with the soft-petalled flower at the height of its season dotting miles of roadside with gentle pink tones. The 25-year-old province of the foothills has hitherto owned mountain-peaks, of white and golden wheat fields as its symbol; the new acquisition is considered as harmonious as it is appropriate.

Ten Thousand Mile Trip

Veteran Investigator Of Sub-Arctic Plans Long Journey

Ten thousand miles of travelling in the untraversed stretches of the North West Territories is the prospect ahead of W. H. D. Hoare, veteran investigator of the sub-Arctic for the Dominion Department of the Interior. He plans one year of wandering through 1,500-square-mile Thelon game preserve, situated between Great Slave Lake and Hudson Bay.

Railway Passes In The Rockies

The map sheets of the Interprovincial Boundary between Alberta and British Columbia published by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, show the three passes of the Rocky Mountains through which railways have been constructed. Crows Nest Pass has an elevation of 4,453 feet; Kicking Horse Pass 5,320 feet, and Yellowhead Pass, 3,711 feet.

English Students For Canada

Hamilton Fyfe, the new head master of Queen's University, Kingston, stated recently that a movement was reaching fruition by which English public school boys will go to Canadian universities in the same manner as Americans and South Africans are Rhodes scholars at Oxford.

Reciprocal Trade

British Bankers In Favor Of Free Trade Within the Empire

Reciprocal trade agreements between the nations comprising the British Empire and the retention of an open market for Empire products was urged in a resolution adopted recently by representatives of several leading British banks meeting in the offices of Hambro's Bank, London, England. The meeting was presided over by Sir Eric Hambro.

"Urgent measures for the promotion of inter-empire trade are needed to secure and extend the market for British products, both at home and through export trade," the resolution read. "Bitter experience has taught Britain, that hopes expressed four years ago in the plea for removal of restrictions upon European trade have failed. Restrictions have been materially increased and the sale of surplus foreign products in British markets has steadily grown. While we retain hope for the ultimate extension of free trade worldwide, we believe the immediate step for securing and extending the market for British goods lies in reciprocal trade agreements between the nations of the British Empire. As a condition of securing these agreements Britain must retain an open market for all Empire products while being prepared to impose duties on all imports from other countries."

London Traffic Project

Scheme To Construct Underground Lines For Transportation Of Goods

A scheme is on hand to make possible the removal of goods traffic from London streets. It consists of the construction of underground lines, with fifty-four stations, for the sole purpose of carrying goods. The promoters are anxious to build seventy-five miles of tubes at a cost of about $200,000,000. All the principal railway termini and goods yards would be connected; the docks, wharves, and public stores would have their private stations. It is said that 125,000,000 tons of goods are carried annually in London, and the trade of the Port of London amounts to $144,000,000 a year. According to the promoters of the new scheme the cost of existing congestion in the streets is $120,000,000 per annum, while the railways have estimated at $300,000 a year the amount of money they lose by the detention of goods lorries at Billingsgate Market alone.

Eighteenth Century Newspapers

The first newspaper in Quebec appeared in 1764 when the Quebec Gazette was founded. The "Royal Gazette" and "New Brunswick Advertiser" appeared at St. John in 1785, and the first paper in what was then Upper Canada appeared in 1793 at Niagara (then Newark), under the name of the "Upper Canada Gazette and American Oracle."

"Since the hair itself appears to have been dipped in star dust," was the gallant response, "their absence is not noticeable."

"You are a base flatterer," declared Charman, and turned away, thereby transforming what had been the gold bar of heaven into a plain New England window sill!

But the doctor liked his fancy, and Grandma, who had become accustomed to the appellation, merely smiled. Then her face sobered, and she replied: "You've noticed it, too, haven't you?"

He nodded, saying thoughtfully: "Something's gone out of her. For lack of a better word we'll call it pep. She seems on edge. Last night I ventured to ask if she didn't feel well, and—she took my head off."

He glanced at the memory, while Grandma chuckled as she admitted: "Sometimes she gets that way. Charman's a good girl, but she's no saint, and I'm glad of it. She's human like all the Davises. I'll tell you what's the matter, Doctor, but you mustn't ever let on I spoke of it. It's Jimmy Bennett."

John Carter didn't suspect that Grandma's wise old eyes were watching to see how this would strike him. His head tilted suddenly, as if her words surprised him, and he echoed: "Bennett? You mean she—"

"I don't mean anything of the sort," she interrupted. "All I mean is that before Jim went away Charman did something that hurt his feelings. She misjudged him; and when she found out her mistake she felt just terribly. So she wrote him a letter. I do know what she said, but it took two stamps so she must have said considerable. That was all of a month ago, and he's never answered. For two weeks she hasn't mentioned a word about it; but you can depend upon it, that's just what's ailing her now."

John Carter looked thoughtfully into space until Grandma gently reminded him that his lunch was getting cold. He seemed to pull himself back from somewhere after his words, and said: "Letter, sometimes go astray, Grandma. Didn't she hear from him at Christmas?"

"Only a card. Not—not what you'd call a real affectionate card, either."

The doctor laughed, though his eyes still looked troubled.

"I bet there's some explanation," he insisted as he resumed his meal. "I don't think Bennett liked me particularly; but it struck me that he'd be a darned nice chap if only he'd knock the chip off his shoulder."

"Jimmy's the salt of the earth," said Grandma loyally.

"And he's to have with Charman," added the doctor.

"Always has been," said the old lady, "and in my opinion the only reason she's not in love with him is because he's always been too close. She's never had a chance to get—well, a sort of bird's-eye view of him, so to speak, and see what a splendid boy he is. She's used to him, same as she's used to the kitchen range and the front door; and I'll say for Jim that he's been every bit as useful to her as they have! I miss him like anything."

"From all appearances I should say that your granddaughter misses him, too," ventured John Carter, as he took Grandma's empty plate and proceeded to bring the desert that Charman had prepared. "Are you sure the letter was addressed properly?"

"That's my one hope," said Grandma, brightening. "Lizzie Baker was in yesterday and said she had a card from Sarah Bennett a week ago, and they were off somewhere on a trip. All three of 'em. I told Charman, and seemed to me she was more cheerful for a while. This is a good pie, isn't it? Charman got up early and made it before breakfast."

"She's no business to do such things!" declared John Carter. "She needs more sleep. Look here, Grandma, does it make things harder for her—my being here?"

"My stars, not! Maybe she gets a little more food ready for noontime; but it's an awful comfort having you look after the furnace, sonny, to say nothing of the times you drop in to speak to me. Charman said just yesterday that she didn't see how she could keep the school without you being here. Don't you get fretting over that. Take another piece of pie, Doctor. I'll please Charman to think you liked it. She's a real good cook, isn't she? She says if the school board turns her down next year she'll get a job at the hotel!"

"When she does," retorted the doctor, helping himself to a second generous slice, "I'll take my meals there!"

"You needn't bother to wash the dishes," said Grandma, when, their luncheon over, the young man started to clear the table. "Some way it never seems right to me for you to pay for a meal and then clear up afterward. You leave 'em be."

The doctor threw her a smile, but continued at his task nevertheless, explaining as he filled the dish pan with hot water: "You forget the reduced price at which I eat. It was in the contract that I clean up when I had time; and so far as I know a call to South Wickfield is the only prospect for this afternoon."

"Maybe if Ezra brings Jim's letter you could leave it at the school as you go," suggested Grandma.

"Sure!" he replied with cheer. "I meant to think things so I could stop for Charman on the way back. I think she's grown thin on the exercise she talks of needing—at least, she looked so this last week. I'll run in from the office before I start, Grandma, and see if the letter's here."

"Thanks, sonny. Ezra comes early in the afternoon. It's real good of him to come at all. We aren't on his route, being right here in town this way. He says maybe it's against the law for an R.F.D. man to stop on Main Street; but if 'tis, he's not going to find out! He saves Charman a walk to the post office every night, and we appreciate it. Just hang the dish towel behind the stove. I'll freeze stiff if you put it out today."

"Well," murmured the old lady to herself, when John Carter had escorted her back to her place by the window and gone out to his office. "I don't quite wait to make of that young man. He looked the least bit startled when I told him Jim Bennett was what was worrying Charman; but after that one minute he was natural as life, and he didn't seem to mind when I asked him to carry her Jim's letter if it came today. I can't make out whether he's trying to act square to Jimmy, or—"

Grandma stopped abruptly, peering from the window, and then said: "Here comes Lizzie Baker. She's got on her ulster, and her old mink fur piece on top of the lavender scarf—a walk to the post office every night, and we appreciate it. Just hang the dish towel behind the stove. I'll freeze stiff if you put it out today."

"I wish the mercury was up," replied Miss Lizzie, as she dropped the fur onto the table and began to unwind the scarf. "It's only six above zero, sitting what it'll be by sundown the Lord knows. I wanted to run in this morning, Grandma, but I didn't have a chance. Just as I put my bread in the oven Luella Moore Purdie come over and made me burn it. I clean forgot all about it, she talked so fast. She'd been having words with the deacon and wanted to let off steam. She never was one to keep her affairs private. Seems that Edgar wants to sell her house over to South

Wickfield, and invest the money to better advantage, but Luella says she's going to keep it for a refuge. "She may need a refuge before she gets through with Edgar Purdie," responded Grandma. "Sit down, Lizzie. Take off your coat or you'll never be able to squeeze into that rocker."

Miss Lizzie obeyed, remarking on how warm and comfortable the house was.

"You're lucky to have a man on the place, Grandma; not that I miss what I've never had, but the older I get the harder it is to keep my room comfortable without help. Yes, Luella was hot up. She'd read somewhere that city folks have what they call trial marriages—if they get sick or tired bargain they just split up. She told the deacon hers was that kind, and he called her a wanton! She said she ever passed his lips again, she'd clear out."

"Do tell!" ejaculated Grandma. "It must have been a fight."

"I guess 'twas. No wonder I burned the bread, hearing her tell about it. Gam Garfield may have a little bit on his hands yet! Dear me and that news enough for one day. Grandma, but it's not all. I had a letter from Sarah Bennett, and you'd never guess that she's up and done. She's bought a fruit farm out in California!"

"Good land!" cried Grandma. "Has she sold that place, or is Jimmy going to run it for her, the farm, I mean? Jim couldn't run his mother's mind if he was to try till Gabriel blows his trumpet."

"It's more likely that she runs him," replied Miss Lizzie. "George K. told Jim that he could have his place at the bank whenever he wanted it again; but it looks now like he'd never come back. I suppose they'll need him 'round the farm. You don't have to milk fruit trees, but I presume a man would come in handy just the same; and Sarah'd never let him go back to Wickfield without her, you can depend on that."

Miss Lizzie rocked violently for a minute, while Grandma appeared to be gazing into the street.

"Sarah Bennett's gone daft over Charman," continued the caller, having caught her breath. "She says she feels like a new woman; and that she's missed Sophie something dreadful all these years without half knowing it. Seems that Sophie's wanted a fruit farm for years and years. She knows all about the place, and they've gone into a sort of partnership. Sarah providin' the money, I presume, and Sophie the brains. And here's the queerest thing yet, Grandma: She never said one word about Jim, or what's to be done with her fine house here in Wickfield! Don't that beat all!"

Names Instead Of Numbers

Telephone Operators In San Francisco's Chinatown Need Good Memories

One of the points of interest in San Francisco's Chinatown is the telephone exchange and every operator must be equipped with a long distance memory. There are 4,200 subscribers in this exchange and names instead of numbers are used in making a call. For instance, if you wanted John Smith and there was more than one John Smith in the directory, you would have to explain on what street your John Smith lived, what was his business or give some other characteristics by which the operator could identify him. It is so easy to understand what a memory an operator in a Chinese exchange must possess.

Linking the Empire

Phone Service Soon Available To Every Important Port

It will soon be possible to telephone from England to India. It was stated by the post office department that, if the negotiations now under way are successful, the operation of the service in this country would be similar to that with Australia, with a transmitting station at Rugby and the receiving station at Balloch, Hertfordshire. This will mean the connection by telephone of almost every important part of the empire.

Exploring the Depths

Naturalist - Adventurer. Sets New Record In Deep Sea Diving

With both poles of the earth explored by land and air, and with only the most remote deserts of Asia and Australia still unexplored, it might be thought that anyone travelling only a few hundred miles from New York would have a difficult time finding territory never before seen by man. Yet William Beebe, the naturalist-adventurer, has done that very thing. Protected by a giant steel globe, with fused quartz windows and oxygen tanks, he has descended 800 feet into the Atlantic ocean off Bermuda, viewed the fishes and the plants, and returned to the surface safe and sound.

Mr. Beebe's feat is particularly outstanding when one realizes that the greatest depth heretofore achieved by deep-sea divers has been only 325 feet. Yet Beebe now plans to go on down to more than three his 800-foot mark, striving for the goal of half a mile.

For some years Mr. Beebe has been revealing the wonders of life in civilization's back yard. His keen eyes find drama even in the insect life on a city rosebush. So it is scarcely surprising that he should be the first to venture into an entirely new world less than a sixth of a mile beneath the paths of everyday ocean liners—Philadelphia Ledger.

Carries Car On Airplane

Machine Three Feet High and Weighs 1,100 Pounds

Captain R. D. Archibald, who last year flew from Los Angeles to Sydney, N.S., arrived in New York with the announcement he had secured the ultimate in travel convenience.

Captain Archibald brought with him an automobile which he will carry in the airplane on future flights. He started immediately on a trip to Nova Scotia—in the automobile. The airplane in which it will be carried is under construction.

The automobile weighs only 1,100 pounds, he said, and is of British class in that it is having a "motorized" plane built to contain a space for the car which stands scarcely three feet off the ground. It is upholstered in red morocco.

Might Be Explanation

Decrease In Drinking Because People Are Less Wretched

Dr. Weeks told the London Licensing Commission that the "working class" is "unimpaired" from alcoholism. With his broad conclusion that the drinking habits of the population are improving no one will disagree. Those dreary days of "drunk for a penny and dead drunk for twopenny" are gone for ever. They were dreary, and that is why there was so much drinking. Many turned to drink to drown their wretchedness. Perhaps the main reason why drinking is decreasing is that wretchedness is decreasing. For the masses the standard of living is today far too low, but it is much better than it was 50 years ago. —London Daily Herald.

Plants Yearly Tree

Every spring for 48 consecutive years, Cheney P. Whitney, of Shortville, N.Y., has returned to his old homestead in Orleans and planted a tree. Now ninety-three years old, Whitney has set out his fifty-eighth tree. Every one he has planted since 1872 has thrived.

Good Advice

There is a time for all things. It was a wise wit who suggested: "If you are going to do a good thing, do it now; of a mean thing, wait until tomorrow." The pity of it is that most of us reverse the process and spoil the order of things.

To Rival the Zeppelins

Germany Planning Giant Airplane To Challenge Dirigibles

An airplane company in Berlin plan to make a giant airplane of the "flying wing" type—that is, without a body, everything being carried inside the wings—as a challenge to dirigibles. It will carry 120 passengers, with a "pay load" of 21 tons, and will have a cruising range of 5,000 miles. It will have Diesel engines, burning crude oil.

The world will welcome a test of this kind. So far, the Zeppelins have had a monopoly among big craft carrying many passengers, and have been the only trustworthy trans-Atlantic flyers. They have the great advantage of being self-supporting in the air, whether their motors are going or not.

The airplane though, has its peculiar advantages, the chief of them being speed. The dirigible may be blown back, or out of its course, by a gale. A plane can drive through a gale.

Dirigibles find it hard to cross the North Atlantic because of prevailing head winds, although by turning toward the equator they can swim ahead in the trade winds, as Columbus did. "Planes with enough motor power, and enough speed for steadiness may solve the problem for direct routes between Europe and North America."

Nine Daily Foreign Papers in Canada

Chinese Have Four, Japs Two, Jews Two, and Finns One

There are nine daily newspapers in Canada, the Star points out, which are not printed in either English or French. Victoria and Vancouver have one Chinese daily each, and Toronto has two; Vancouver has two Jap dailies; Winnipeg and Toronto have each a Jewish daily and Sudbury prints one in Finnish. There are in addition some 38 weekly papers not printed in either English or French. The claimed circulations of these run from 1,650 to 20,000. Winnipeg prints about half of them, although Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Edmonton are well represented.

The Sensible Age

Very Difficult To Determine What Is the Sensible Age in Manhood

A young woman in Boston has advertised for a Canadian husband. She is 20 and he must be 30, for, she says with all the wisdom of 20: "You know they are never sensible until they are 30." That is what you might call a classical illusion. Why should a young woman assume that a man is sensible when he is 30 just because it has always been supposed he is.

Actually he is never really sensible if he is any good at all: "he pot in him will always at intervals lead him into doing the most crazy things at the most crazy times. If not, he is not sensible." —Vancouver Province.

Miller's Worm Powders are sweet and palatable to children, who show no hesitancy in taking them. They will certainly bring worm troubles to an end. They are a strengthening and stimulating medicine, correcting the disorders of digestion that the worm cause and imparting a healthy tone to the system most beneficial to development.

Associated Fruit Growers

Co-Operative Organization In B.C. Is Doing a Big Business

In seven years the Associated Growers of British Columbia, a co-operative organization, has shipped 26,463 cars of fruits and vegetables bringing returns of $25,697,425, according to an official report. The cost of operations was less than three and one half per cent. Big crops have not always returned the most money to growers; it was pointed out. In 1927, 3,622 cars brought $4,193,593, and in 1928, 4,463 cars brought $3,833,619.

Building Large Hotel

London is going in for buildings on a larger scale. Not only will Thames House, Millbank, be the largest commercial building outside America, but the new hotel to be erected on a site being cleared near the Marble Arch, is to have 2,000 bedrooms with bathrooms, and will be the biggest in Europe.

First Apples Exported

The first apples exported from Nova Scotia are said to have been shipped by sailing vessel from Halifax to Liverpool in 1849, the price realized being $2 per barrel. In 1886 a shipment of 700 barrels was made by schooner to Boston, U.S.A., the price realized being $2.5 per barrel.

A Calm Path

Provides Unique Service

New Yorkers Can Park Their Goldfish At Loew's Theatre

Loew's Lexington Theatre provides an unusual service for New York people. When you go out of town, you can leave your goldfish at Loew's Lexington. There is a huge goldfish pool in the lobby and you simply walk away with them into it. The quality custom service started in 1923, when a gentleman who lives in the East Sixties stopped in, with his fish under his arm, and asked Mr. Crawford, manager of the theatre, if he could leave them there. Mr. Crawford said he could, and the news of this convenient service spread. Every now and then a car drives up and a chauffeur with a goldfish bowl gets out and empties it into the pool. People never come back to claim their pets, because of course they couldn't tell which ones were theirs, and nobody wants anybody else's goldfish. They buy new ones. The system keeps the pool well populated.

W. N. U. 1846

Federal Election Monday, July 28th

To The Electors of the Battle River Riding:
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

At a large convention held at Wainwright on June 25th, Mr. J. W. G. Morrison of Vermilion, was unanimously nominated as the Conservative candidate for the election to be held on Monday, July 28th. The Association feels that the convention made a strong selection. Indications point to a change of government and it is therefore felt that the best interests of the people of this constituency will be served by electing Mr. Morrison as their representative. He is well and favorably known to the people of the riding. The association appeals to the electors for their support and confidence on his behalf.

As the electors know, the Hon. R. B. Bennett is the leader of the Conservative Party. Mr. Bennett is a western man and in close touch with western needs and conditions, better than any other man in public life today. The Conservative Party is the only party presenting in this campaign a clear and definite policy to the people of Canada on the many problems with which we are faced today. The policy pledges: Protection for Canadians in the development of our national resources, our agricultural and industrial life and our consumers from exploitation; To foster and develop the agricultural, livestock and dairy industries now so sadly neglected; To develop inter-provincial trade and foreign markets for our agricultural and other products; To inaugurate a national fuel policy; To improve our whole system of transportation including the Hudson Bay route, the port facilities at the Great Lakes, Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and build the St. Lawrence Waterways; To establish a national highways system; To foster a great Empire trade based on mutual advantage; To establish a national system of old age pensions thus relieving the Provincial and municipalities of being asked to contribute.

These pledges will create a CANADA FIRST in all things. Mr. Bennett pledges to call a special session of parliament to deal with the question of unemployment. Over 200,000 out of work is not a good thing for the country. The development of our national resources means that our raw products will be manufactured in Canada, thus giving employment to our own people. At present we ship out our raw products to be manufactured outside of Canada, and then we buy them back as finished material. We paid over $900,000,000 last year to the United States alone for goods, most of which could be manufactured in Canada by Canadian workmen. The national fuel policy will increase employment in our mines and on our railways and incidentally create better markets for our farm products. The building of a national highway across Canada, beside giving steady employment, means that thousands of tourists from the east and south will visit these western provinces, which will mean the expenditure of millions of dollars with resultant benefit to the farmers and business interests generally. By a national old age pension system the provinces and municipalities will be relieved of the burden of contributing to this worthy undertaking.

These policies are in your best interests, and policies that for your own good and the good of the community you should support. The Association therefore ask you to

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National Railways, which first made possible the reception of radio concerts on board a moving train, an invention which many first class railroads have since copied, have achieved another mechanical triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication in the world with moving trains. The system has been put into public service by the company on "The International Limited," which covers the 334 miles separating Montreal and Toronto in 360 minutes, the fastest train in the world traversing a like distance.

The photograph shows Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inaugurating the telephone service from "The International Limited" while the train is travelling at 60 miles per hour. At the train switchboard is J. C. Burkholder, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, who developed and perfected the train telephone system.

The weather for the past week has been mostly warm and dry, ideal growing weather after the long wet spell. Most of the grain is progressing nicely and with another shower or so before harvest, practically all of the Irma and surrounding district will produce a record crop. Some slight damage has been reported from hail south and west of Irma, but in most cases the grain had started to head out again and barring an early frost will yet produce a good crop.

On Thursday the Irma district was visited with another fine rain.

Last Friday night Kiefer's theatre was crowded to capacity when nearly everyone from this and adjoining districts turned out to attend the wedding dance given by Dr. Greenberg and his wife. Everybody reports having had one of the best times they have had for many months and are hoping that some more of the popular young couples of the Irma district will soon hurry up and get married and give another dance.

Accompanied by Mrs. John Jack, as camp leader and Mrs. N. McGregor in charge of the refreshments, some fifteen C.G.I.T. girls from Irma, left Wednesday for Clear Lake, where they will spend the next ten days in a girls camp. Next Wednesday, July 23rd will be visitors day when several of the girls' parents are planning on making a trip to the lake. Mr. J. Jack took most of the girls and their camping equipment in a truck while Mr. S. C. Miles volunteered the use of his car for the rest.

Noted Speaker Coming Here at the Chautauqua

Henry Black Burns to Give His Timely Lecture "Where Criminals Come From"

Dr. Henry Black Burns, noted specialist on criminology who has been secured to speak here at the coming Canadian Chautauqua, discusses one of the most interesting subjects before the public today—the problem of the criminal-minded and the researches that are being made toward discovering a cure for criminal tendencies.

DR. HENRY BLACK BURNS

What is the psychology of a criminal? What makes a man turn a, perhaps, brilliant mentality to the pursuit of activities beyond the law? Is the criminal a man in the clutches of some mental or physical disease—and can he be healed? Is divorce a symptom of some subtle malady in the present-day social system? These are some of the salient points of Doctor Burns' vital lecture "Where Criminals Come From." Noted judges and lawyers throughout the continent have enthusiastically endorsed the work Doctor Burns is doing in criminal investigation. Civic clubs and educational institutions have called him to their communities time and time again.

Although Doctor Burns deals with facts—with symptoms and causes—he is himself so genial and witty that his lecture is intensely entertaining as well as mentally stimulating. Not only is he a recognized authority on criminology, but he is a magazine writer and poet as well and brings a ripe scholarship, a sparkling humor and a warm heart to his lecture work.

Irma Chautauqua, July 29-30-31, and August 1st.

Music was furnished by Char's Peerless Orchestra of which the crowd voiced their approval. The Maple Lodge club claim the distinction of being the only live country curling club in the province, owning their covered rink and equipment. They are already making plans for a successful season. They wish to express their appreciation and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins for the use of the barn and also for the assistance given in preparing the lunch in the house.
